“Remember the wonders he has done, his miracles, and the judgments he pronounced,” Psalm 105:5

It was a joy and blessing yesterday as Sherry and I sat down at the dining table and cooked “yosenabe” together. I had gone out and purchased all of the ingredients and Sherry and I cut and prepared all of the fish, clams, mussels, etc. As we sat at the table we reminisced how Kazuko used to make yosenabe for us, one of our favorite meals. Sherry remembered how she had her mother had prepared the same meal as she was a young girl growing up. Cooking a meal together was a special moment that I hope Sherry will remember one day when I’m long gone.

Today is the 51st anniversary of my father’s passing from liver and pancreatic cancer. I have fond memories of my father and I playing golf, playing catch, and my father bringing me donuts and coke as I fished off the end of the wharf while he was working. These are a few of the special moments that we shared together.

In Psalm 105:5, the psalmist encourages the Israelites to remember the things that God had done lest they forget his marvelous works.

Memories are special gifts that God has given to us to remember those special people and times in our lives.

Thought For Today: What are your special memories that you have with your parents? What memories are you building with your children or grandchildren? What are your special memories of how God has moved and worked in your life?

Today’s Prayer Focus: Give thanks to God for the wonderful gift of memories and for all of his marvelous works. Deo Volente.
