

Daily Devotion For April 13, 2021

“Wait for the Lord; be strong, and let your heart take courage; wait for the Lord!” Psalm 27:14

For most of the past year or so, I have written a daily devotion. I want to say thank you to those who have taken the time to read these devotions and for your feedback and encouragement. Today as I was trying to come up with a topic for a devotion, I sat at my desk for quite some time trying to figure out what to write. It just seemed like nothing would come.

Have you ever had one of those days when you didn't know what to say to God or felt like God was silent when you wanted to hear from him? In Psalm 27:14 the psalmist twice writes, “Wait for the Lord.” The call to wait on the God is really an invitation to trust and hope in Him. It entails believing that one day, even if today is not that day, God will speak. In times of waiting, as we seek God in prayer, we must learn to listen to him as well as talk to him — to shut out the clatter and quietly wait as he unfolds to us his person, purposes, promises, and plan.

Thought For Today: What do you do when you wait and God still seems silent? Remember, James 4:8 says, “Draw near to God and He will draw near to you.” If God seems silent today, draw near to him and wait for his presence. God is faithful and he will draw near to you.”
