

Daily Devotion For March 6, 2022

"For I know the plans that I have for you declares the Lord, plans for good and not for evil to give you a hope and a future." Jeremiah 29:11

This week, my daughter Sherry finished her classwork to get her college degree. Sherry's college education didn't turn out the way that she had planned 8 years ago when she went off to Gordon College in Massachusetts. A year and a half into her college education she suddenly became ill and was diagnosed with Idiopathic Transverse Myelitis. In an instant she went from being a healthy 19 year old to being paralyzed from the shoulders down.

Spending 40 days in the hospital and learning how to walk all over again was a great challenge for her but even in the midst of that I'm grateful that she trusted in the Lord and found comfort and peace in the knowledge of God's presence with her.

People have asked, what is she going to do now? Currently she is working on developing her own Youtube Channel and is finding great joy and satisfaction in that. My hope and prayer is that she will succeed and be able to make a living doing that since it is hard for her to have a "regular" full time job.

Thought For Today: Has your life turned out the way that you had hoped for, dreamed of, or planned? Whatever the circumstances, God's promise is that He knows, the plans that he has for you and that they are for good. Keep trusting in His promise.

Today's Prayer Focus: Continued prayers for Rick Hattori who is still at CHOMP. Pray that the cause of his internal bleeding will be found. Pray for wisdom for his doctors and comfort and peace for the Hattori family. Thank God that Seon Hashimoto is doing better at home. Deo Volente.
